> Anornez house robbery of a most and scious character took place near the Man Mo Temple in Hollywood Road yesterday about half-past 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Four men, armed with knives, &c., gained admittance to a family house in the vicinity named on the pretext that they were detectives and constables come to arrest gamblers, and, after threatening the inmates, women and children, appropriated all the valuables easily portable in the house, and then made off. One man, in removing a bangle from the arm of one of the women, inflicted a scratch on her arm with a dagger to stop her resistance. We cannot say whether or not the case has been reported to the Police, but up to this forences no one had been arrested in connection with the robbery.

BULBS THE Zarzuela Spanish Opera Company, which will give their opening performance on Saturday evening in the Theatre Royal City Hall, consists of twenty-three members, twelve of whom are vocalists and actors and actresses, the remainder being musicians. There are three ladies in the Company, who are all vocalists of ability. The orchestra will be presided over by Maestro Cusca at the grand piano, and among the instruments there will be four violins, a violincello, cornet, &c. The programme of Saturday's entertainment has now been published, and the fare promised is both varied and plentiful, and also of a novel character. The attractions held out ought to be sufficient to draw a large attendance of all classes, especially of the Portuguese community.

Says the Japan Mail of the 29th ultime :-A story is going the round of the Japanese press that China has concluded a loan of fifty milions-sterling through the sgency of Jardine. A loan has been concluded, but only for a fraction of the amount reported. The part played by the great Eastern firm is also misrepresented, but upon this point we are not a liberty to be explicit. It is not at all likely that the money-which, by the way, has been obtained by China on very favourable may soon expect to hear of a conflict comterms-will be applied to purposes of railway construction. approaching what seems to be a peaceful settlement, another portion of the complicated Eastern Question threatens to cause serious trouble. The Greek Government, according to Renter's telegram received yesterday, have again preferred their claim to have the Greek frontier extended. This time, however, they have dropped the con ciliatory tone in which they first approached the Great Powers, and have also presented somewhat different claim. In the early of November, before hostilities between

Bulgaria had commenced, the Greek Government addressed to the Great Powers what was term d a conciliatory note. demanding the extension of the Greek frontier as adjudged by the Berlin Treaty. At the time we wrote :-

Greece's demand, as conveyed in today's telegram, that the Greek frontier should be extended to Epirus, as adjudged by the Berlin Treaty, is one which she is perfectly justified in making, though it is rather unfortunate for the peace of Europe that she should have made it just at the present moment. Epirus, formerly a portion of Ancient Greece, has, since the 15th century, formed part of modern Albania. and was consequently under Turkish role. The Berlin Congress of 1878 recommended that the southern part of Epirus, from the Kalamas river, whose outlet is directly apposite the southern and of the well-

Practically, however, this portion of the province, as well as the southern 67. > A day or two after we learned that the Greek Chamber had voted a large sum of money to increase the navy and consented to the raising of a large patriotic loan, despite the fact that they had been warned against arming by the Great Powers. It is now apparent that the determination to obtain what they think, rightly too, their due has not abated. A telegram in the American papers dated Athens, November 30, shows that the Government are prepared to fight if need be. It says :- The President of the Council has informed the foreign Consuls that it is feared that a struggle between Greece and Turkey is mevitable. Yesterday's telegram is another indication that this determined spirit still prevails, and unless the Great Powers aid the Greeks in some way to get possession of that which was regularly ceded to them years ago, we pared to which the one just ended between Servia and Bulgaria will be small indeed.

THE SERVO-BULGARIAN QUESTION. London. November 27.—The statement that the Bulgarians captured Pirot yesterday, after being twice repulsed, is incorrect. It appears that the entire Bulgarian army made an attack on Pirot. A long atrucola ensued, during which the Servian artillery rendered excellent service and maintained such an effective fire that the Bulgarians wore repulsed. The losses of the Bulgarians are reported to be very heavy.

Vienna, November 27.-It is reported that the Austrian Minister at Belgrade, who was instructed to visit Prince Alexander of Bulgaria, bears an ultimatum from Francia Joseph, to be delivered if Prince Alexander refuses a truce.

The Bulgarians have driven the Servians back to Nissa.

Belgrade, November 27.-No dynastic changes in Servia are expected. The Augtrian influence in Servia is wanting, because Russia initiated the movement for an armistice, and the latter Power had grown accordingly in the esteem of the Servians.
